

Trainee Roof Truss Designer

We are now recruiting for a Trainee Roof Truss Designer, based in Greenbank Industrial Estate, Newry, Co Down, where as part of the Design Team, your key responsibility will be learning the design of roof trusses for our housebuilding customers. We are willing to invest in training an inexperienced person as long as they can demonstrate the required personal characteristics.

Applicants must be comfortable (not necessarily an expert!) using a computer and reading plans, and have an interest in the building industry. As a person you must have an interest in design, have a natural willingness to go the extra mile, and the ability to work under pressure with good humour.

Regardless of whether you have spent years on the tools or are at the beginning of your career, if you are looking for an opportunity to join a Company which values its employees and actively practices promoting from within, then we would love to hear from you.

Your role as a Trainee Designer will primarily involve:

- Working to interpret Architects' drawings for fabrication.
- Assisting in the provision of effective commercial solutions which will include not only designs but also quotations.
- Providing support and advice to your customers and your colleagues in production.

You will need to have the following:

- A go-getter attitude tempered with a highly organised and disciplined approach, with a wish to work to continuously improve yourself and your work.
- A knowledge of, and a very real passion for technical design.
- Good numerical skills
- Attention to detail
- Strong communication skills
